

CONTENTS

May 2017

POEMS

SANDRA SIMONDS	95	“When you think about it, mostly, a cage is air —” “It’s going to hurt” “A new obsession. How to get out”
FRED D’AGUIAR	100	Letters to America (An Abecedary)
D. GILSON	114	Where the Wild Things Go Harold & the Purple Crayon
LAURA KASISCHKE	116	Talisman
SERGEY GANDLEVSKY	117	Elegy Translated by Philip Metres and Stepan Brand
MARY KARR	118	The Burning Girl
LYNN EMANUEL	120	Collage with Train Trip Memories and Laundry
MORGAN PARKER	122	My Sister Says White Supremacy Is Turning Her Crazy
PETER COLE	123	August
A.B. JACKSON	128	The Burning of the Book The Cliff-Top Monastery
LYNNE THOMPSON	130	The Beauty Shell
SAM SAX	132	Treyf On Alcohol
PHILLIP B. WILLIAMS	136	From “Interruptive”

FROM THE POETRY REVIEW

LUCY TUNSTALL	151	Kaftan The Patient Torch Song
KATE POTTS	154	Catalogue of Strange Fish
GILLIAN ALLNUTT	155	abutment magdalen Portrait of Hester by her husband
MONIZA ALVI	158	Less, much less
LIZ BERRY	160	Oh Sweethearts
RUTH WIGGINS	161	Making Water
FRAN LOCK	163	On Insomnia On Weekends
MARK WALDRON	168	I wish I loved lawnmowers
DENISE RILEY	170	Lone Star Clattering
EMILY BERRY	171	The End

COMMENT

HELEN VENDLER	177	Words That Sing, Dance, Kiss
CONTRIBUTORS	187	